INTERESTS

My interests are mostly in the realm of technology in general, but in especially whin it comes to Free/Open Software (not to be confused with Freeware).

During my free time I - beyond programming - play games (whilst I livestream), write short stories, and write essays on different subjects (that I post on social media). For the most part I write in English as it gives me a wider audience and it can sometimes be easier to say what I want to be said.
